

NEW EXHIBITION

Data as Art: Celebrating a decade of the Bioinformatics Support Hub with the community

Data as Art invites visitors to explore the aesthetic potential of scientific data. This unique display challenges the conventional perception of data as purely objective, highlighting its capacity to inspire artistic expression and creativity. The works featured in this exhibition are contributed by students, researchers, clinicians, and staff across the Yale campus who view data as a canvas for artistic exploration.

OPEN ACCESS PUBLISHING

Journals with APC Waivers

View a list of 180 journals relevant to the medical campus in which Yale authors can publish open access articles without paying article processing charges.

DID YOU KNOW

Faculty Video Production Studio

Faculty can book time in our sound-proofed studio which features a Wacom tablet, an AKG studio condenser microphone, and a 27" iMac.

NOTABLE

DEIB Resources

View a collection of guides curated for the medical campus on diversity, equity, inclusion, and belonging.

NEW

Equipment Reservation Portal

Browse and reserve chargers, cameras, microphones, adapters, and more on our new reservation portal.

PLUS...

Researching Fildes's "The Doctor"

Read about our 2024 Gyorgyey/Simbonis grant awardee Hannah Darwin's experience at the Historical Library.